

HZC-HFR50P

Portable HFR license for HDC-5500/HDC-P50

Overview

The HZC-HFR50P High Frame Rate (HFR) license enables slow-motion shooting with Sony HDC-5500 and HDC-P50 cameras.

This portable license supports High Frame Rate acquisition at up to HD 8x for the HDC-5500 and up to HD 6x for the HDC-P50. License activation can be transferred from one camera to another via the Sony ULMS web site. This reduces upfront costs and optimises HFR production capabilities, even for facilities with a limited number of cameras.

Features

Flexible license transfer between locations

The HZC-HFR50P license can be easily transferred between cameras, even if they're operating at different locations. This gives greater flexibility in assigning HFR capability as needed for multiple cameras according to the needs of each production.

*Transfer via Sony Upgrade and License Management Suite

Annual license activation

The license can be transferred freely among multiple cameras during the annual activation period. Broadcasters and live events producers can thus manage the total number of licenses annually according to budgetary constraints.
